

Gryphon Event Safety and Security (GESS) Limited, are committed to protecting your privacy and promise to collect, process and share your data safely and securely when you use us for employment opportunities, training or consultancy. Our Privacy Policy tells you how we do this and what your rights are. Any personal data processed in line with our Privacy Policy is controlled by us, as the data controller.

Our Privacy Promise

Transparency – We will always tell you what data we're collecting about you and how we use it. We only share your data with trusted partners and will never sell your data.

Secure – We are committed to always follow industry best practices to ensure your data is stored safely and securely. We protect the confidentiality, accuracy and availability of the information we collect about you.

Control – We will always give you control over the marketing (i.e. offers of training and employment) you receive from us. You can choose the types of messages you receive and whether you want to stop receiving marketing communications.

Information we collect about you:

- Personal and contact information when you apply for a place on one of our courses, or employment opportunities (or update the information held from a previous application), including your name, address, email address, telephone number(s), social media username(s), title, date of birth, gender and security question answers, for example town of birth and mother's maiden name. We may collect some of that contact information when you interact with us including via our office administration team.
- Details (and copies) of your communications and interactions with us via our company office including by email, telephone (voice recordings), post and online via social media channels.
- Copies of documents you provide to prove your identity (including driving licence and passport) when you are applying for employment, consultancy packages, or a place on a training course, or where there is a legal reason to request this from you.
- Transaction details including payments from you for training courses, equipment and payments to you for work carried out.
- Your financial information including your bank account details (which are sent to BACS) when payed by direct debit.
- We may also receive personal data directly from you or from various third parties and public sources, including social media channels (if you interact with us through those channels), or other third parties including credit reference agencies.

How and why we use your personal data:

In the table below, we set out all of the ways we use your personal data, and why. We have also identified what our legitimate interests are where appropriate.

It is sometimes necessary for us to process your personal data in order to enter into a contract with you, or to satisfy a contractual requirement (referred to as 'performance of a contract with you' below), or to comply with a statutory requirement. In those circumstances, if you do not provide the personal data we require, we will be unable to provide our services to you.

Queries	We may use your personal and contact information, financial information, information about any transaction between you and us, information about your use of our website, or technical information for the purpose of dealing with any request, complaint or query from you.	Necessary to comply with a legal obligation. Necessary for our legitimate interests (to respond to you and to deal with any request you may have).

How we can use your personal data for direct marketing:

We can send you marketing communications through a number of different channels. You will receive direct marketing by email if you have attended one of our training courses or have accepted paid work with us. If you have connected with us through our website and have either consented to receive such email marketing and/or have not asked us to stop sending direct marketing by email to you.

How to opt out of direct marketing

You can opt out from receiving direct marketing communications and notifications from us at any time. There are various ways you can do this:

- To stop receiving marketing by email:
 - Email us stating that you no longer wish to receive any further marketing or notifications

- To stop receiving notifications via social media groups on your mobile device:
 - Request that the group administrator removes you from the group via email.
- Write to us

How can I stop my personal data being used for direct marketing?

If you would like us not to use your personal data to personalise marketing to you, you can notify us of this request by emailing the office on info@gryphonsecurity.co.uk If you choose to stop personalised direct marketing, you will continue to receive marketing communications and notifications from us. However, they will not be personalised to you.

To stop all direct marketing (including both marketing communications/notifications and personalisation) you must opt out of both. Please note that our systems may take up to 72 hours to update after changing your preferences.

Sharing your information with our partners

We may share your data with our partners/other agencies that we work with on a sub-contractor basis.

How we share your data with third parties:

We sometimes share the data we collect from you with the following trusted third parties:

- Banks and payment providers – to set up a direct debit/debit on your account, to pay wages to you and to obtain payment of any amounts due to us.
- Our IT system providers – in order to provide software to set up communications providers and to provide our systems to us, including for the purposes of hosting, support and software licensing.
- Marketing service providers – to allow us to send email communications (including, for example, Whatsapp, Twitter, Instagram etc.)
- Social media platforms – for the purpose of targeted advertising.
- Professional advisers including lawyers, bankers, auditors and insurers – for the purposes of providing consultancy, banking, legal, insurance and accounting services.
- Police or other such regulatory authority – as part of an investigation or otherwise for legal or regulatory purposes.
- Dispute Resolution agencies – for the purposes of dealing with any complaints.
- Credit reference agencies – for the purpose of checking the details that you have provided us with are correct and to comply with our regulatory obligations.
- Auditors – to audit our systems and transactions for the purposes of ensuring efficiency, or regulatory or contractual compliance.
- UK law enforcement agencies – for the purposes of ensuring that we comply with the law and have adequate security measures in place.
- We will disclose your personal information to third parties if we are under a duty to disclose or share your personal data in order to comply with any legal or regulatory obligation or request. We do this in order to protect our rights, property or safety of our clients, employees or others. This includes exchanging information with other companies and organisations for the purposes of fraud protection and credit risk reduction.

How we protect your personal data:

We have put various measures in place to protect your personal data:

- We are independently certified to a number of industry recognised standards, including ISO 9001:2015 which helps us maintain the highest levels of data security across our entire business.
- Our entire site is accessed using https rather than http, meaning that all information that is sent and received is encrypted for additional security. You can see this in the address bar of your browser.
- As described in this Privacy Policy, we may in some instances disclose your personal data to third parties. Where we do, we require that third party to have appropriate technical and organisational measures in place to protect your personal data. However, in some instances we may be compelled by law to disclose your personal data to a third party, and have limited control over how it is protected by that party.

Your personal data may be processed outside the European Economic Area (EEA) – including by staff operating outside the EEA who work for us or for one of our third parties mentioned. That includes social media agencies for the purposes of providing relevant marketing or notifications to you.

Where your personal data is transferred outside of the EEA, we require that appropriate safeguards are in place. To find out more about the appropriate safeguards that we have in place, please contact us.

How long we keep your personal data:

We will only keep your personal data for as long as necessary to fulfil the purposes we collected it for, including for the purposes of satisfying any legal, accounting, or reporting requirements.

At the end of that retention period, your data will either be deleted or anonymised (so that it can no longer be associated with you) for research or statistical purposes.

To determine the appropriate retention period for personal data, we consider the amount, nature, and sensitivity of the personal data, the potential risk of harm from unauthorised use or disclosure of your personal data, the purposes for which we process your personal data and whether we can achieve those purposes through other means, and the applicable legal requirements.

In some circumstances you may be entitled to ask us to delete your data: see 'Your rights' below for further information.

Your rights:

You have the right:

- to ask us not to use your personal data for direct marketing. See further information on how to do this above.
- to ask us not to process your personal data where it is processed on the basis of legitimate interests, if there are no compelling reasons for that processing;
- to request from us access to personal information held about you (see below);
- to ask for the information we hold about you to be rectified if it is inaccurate or incomplete;
- to ask that we stop any consent-based processing of your personal data after you withdraw that consent;

- to ask, in certain circumstances, to delete the personal data we hold about you;
- to ask, in certain circumstances, for the processing of that information to be restricted; and
- to ask, in certain circumstances, for data portability.
